LOCATION

Kirkcaldy is a town and former royal burgh in Fife, on the east coast of Scotland. It is about 12 miles north of Edinburgh and 28 miles southwest of Dundee. The town had a recorded population of 49,460 in 2011, making it Fife's second-largest settlement and the 11th most populous settlement in Scotland.

The town is a major service centre for the central Fife area. It has a swimming pool, theatre, museum and art gallery, three public parks and an ice rink

The A92, which connects Dunfermline to the west with Glenrothes and Dundee to the north, passes immediately north of Kirkcaldy. The A910 road connects it to the western and central parts of the town.

The subjects are located on the southern side of Muirhead Park.

DESCRIPTION

The subjects comprise a modern mid terraced unit having lower concrete block walls with upper walls and roof having aluminium sheeting.

Internally the property benefits from a large storage area with good eaves height and a single w.c.
