LOCATION

Dunblane is a town in the council area of Stirling in central Scotland. It is a commuter town, with many residents making use of good transport links to much of the Central Belt, including Glasgow and Edinburgh.

The town is served by Dunblane railway station, which has regular services to Stirling, Perth, Glasgow and Edinburgh. It is also a stop on the Caledonian Sleeper from Inverness, and several other long distance trains to Aberdeen, Dundee, Inverness, and even London. Dunblane is the northernmost station of Network Rail's Edinburgh to Glasgow Improvement Program, which includes electrification. Dunblane is the point at which the M9 motorway ends and joins the A9 dual carriageway north towards Perth.

The subjects are located on the western side of High Street between its junctions with Perth Road and The Cross.

DESCRIPTION

The subjects comprise a ground floor retail unit contained within a traditional stone building surmounted by a pitched and slated roof.

Internally, the subjects provide an open plan retail unit on the ground floor with storage, tea prep area and w.c facilities on lower ground floor level.

PROPOSAL

Lease from £9,000 per annum for a new FRI lease.
