LOCATION

Falkirk is a large town in the Central Lowlands of Scotland, historically within the county of Stirlingshire. It lies in the Forth Valley, 23.3 miles north-west of Edinburgh and 20.5 miles northeast of Glasgow.

Falkirk has a resident population of 34,570 according to the 2008 census. The population of the town had risen over the past decade, making it the 20th most populous settlement in Scotland. Falkirk is the main town and administrative centre of the Falkirk council area, which has an overall population of 156,800 and in holds the nearby towns of Grangemouth, Bo'ness, Denny, Larbert and Stenhousemuir.

The subjects are located on the southern side of Bank Street at its junction with Park Street and Manor Street.

DESCRIPTION

The subjects comprise a end-terraced two and a half storey building of traditional stone construction surmounted by a pitched and slated roof.

Internally the property was most recently utilised as a retail unit but may well be suited for alternative development subject to planning permission. The accommodation provides a small retail area at ground floor with w.c. Further storage is provided on the first and attic floor.

PROPOSAL

Offers over £50,000 are invited for the heritable interest.
